 a poem a wolf's call a wealthy man howl... the sound my soul makes when I feel the herdes

Blessed Day

This gentle warmth
This blessed sun
This one perfect day
Will make no history..

But put on this garment of light
It suits you beautifully
You will store this lovely day
For the blustering winds of winter..

Tell me,
Do such unspolled souls exist
Who feel free to offer love
Because they elicit love?
They shimmer with grace
And assume the best in people.

I detect such angels everywhere
Indeed they greet me when we meet
With sparkling eyes and warm hugs
Friendly bodies, mine and theirs Transcendent engagements every one They make our blessed days.

Reconstruction and Recovery: The Post-Civil War South (8 week class) Old Dixie was shocked and humiliated by her unexpected defeat at the hands of the detested Yankees. Incredibly, "The Chivalry" had been beaten by soulless, materialistic Northerners. How would the loyal sons and daughters of the Confederacy react to the Unthinkable? Carry on the struggle, or join the modern world and create a commercial, urban culture where cotton and sugar cane once grew? This class will trace the moral and political struggle post-war Southerners faced in the wake of utter ruin.

West Marin Standing Together - Documentary Film Screening, "Now Is the Time: Healthcare for Everyone" 02/02/2018 - 7:00pm to 8:30pm This film shows what private insurance is costing us, how the medical industry & government are ignoring the needs of the people, and yet the film ends up inspiring us to unite for change. With our new single-payer bill in the CA State Senate, the film is still very timely. This documentary explores what single-payer healthcare is and what is being done in a growing movement to make it happen. Gail Bateson and Liza Goldblatt from WMST Healthcare Committee will facilitate a discussion after the film and offer brief presentations on the Canadian and a few European systems that provide healthcare for all.
