Heard It at the Hardware

By Robin Bradford

ALL IN

A pall settled over our whole town yesterday as word spread about our friend and co-worker, Barbara Rothwell, who was killed in a tragic automobile accident on Wednesday night. Barb's car ran off the road into a ravine and smashed into a eucalyptus tree near Horseshoe Hill Road. One minute she was here; the next she wasn't. It all happened very quickly. Barb was just 48 years old.

In the car with Barb was the love of her life, her seven year-old son, Jon Rene. I like to think Barb was watching as Jonny did the bravest thing he could have done. He somehow got himself out of that wreckage of a car and went for help.

A volunteer fireman who was on the scene said a Christmas candle was in the window of the house Jonny found, and it guided him as he picked his way toward it through a fog so thick it was like a rising damp. Who knows how long and how dark that night must have been for that little boy? Like his mother would have, he did the right thing and he did it courageously. She would be so proud of him.

Barb was one of the hardest working, most capable people one could ever know. She moved at warp speed, triple and quadruple-tasking. Even when Barb stood still, she was in motion: connecting people, making calls, running an errand, taking soup to a sick friend, volunteering to help. When Barb did something, she did it fully and without reservation. She was all in, all the time. Seemingly indestructible and never out of energy, Barb was as strong as a man twice her size. There wasn't anything she was afraid of tackling.

One characteristic of Barb's that stands out is her generosity. She was hard-wired to give, and she gave to anyone who needed anything. A worldclass scrounger, Barb knew every good corner in San Francisco where people put out things they found redundant. She'd discover the most amazing items: from a treadle sewing machine to a vintage movie camera or stainless steel kitchen countertops or wood flooring from a basketball court. She'd dutifully stop her pickup, load up the bounty and deliver it with her wide, blazing smile to whatever friend she'd decided couldn't live without it.

Barb will be missed terribly by her family, her sweet mother Mary Rothwell and her darling boy Jon Rene, and the many dear friends she made in her too-short life. Rest in peace, beautiful Barbie.

Chinese Cities: Their Amazing Rise and Possible Futures

Please RSVP for this event using our online registration system.

Since China's "reform and opening up" beginning in the late 1970s, China has had double-digit gross domestic product (GDP) growth almost every year, including close to a 50% increase in GDP since the global economic crisis began in 2007. In addition to its role as the world's manufacturing center, China is metamorphosing itself into a global financial center, and, increasingly, a center of innovation. Join us for this discussion of China's urbanization and China's urban future.

Richard LeGates is a professor emeritus of Urban Studies and Planning at San Francisco State University and an authority on urbanization and city and regional planning.

To Barbara's Son

Life can be so heart-breaking,
yet Barb was rising
beyond mundane work of life.

Barb planted her hillside
to show her healing:
now she's part of heaven's stars.

ATTENTION ALL MOTHERS WITH BABIES!

Just recently, A young- mother-friend of mine, told me that when she was taking a class in "How to care for her baby", she was told to "Rub lavender oil on the headboard of her baby's crib".The reason being: the scent of lavender creates a calm, soothing, effect on the baby and promotes their restful sleep!

With this knowledge, I have created a "Baby-bliss" pillow. It is 8 & half inches long, 4 & a half-inches wide, filled with fragrant (local) organic lavender and strung with white satin ribbon so it can be tied to the side of the baby's crib. The fabric is of a beautiful, garden design that my daughter, Signy, brought me from France while visit - her sister, Bethany, ( both of whom grew up in Bolinas!). The pillows are being sold at the Bolinas Winter Faire, Dec. 7, 8, 9th @ the BOCC along with lavender eye-pillows, sachets, & small bed pillows. Also, organic catnip mice & pillows. Hawaiian "To & From" cards, plus our annual, Best-Seller, Wild Bolinas Blackberry Vinegar!... Barbara Pace's FAMOUS Christmas cookie recipe ( Begged for & SO Generously given to me!), with butter, walnuts, crystallized ginger, chocolate tidbits, & dried cranberries.

Please come to the Faire & experience all the wealth of our hand-done crafts.

My son, Jeffrey will also be selling his Fine Honey-Craft (ho-ho) (The bees work don't they?) @ our booth!

See you there!

Peace, Love & Unity,... Mary Barror

If you know someone in town (senior citizen, child, family, even pets) who could use a little something extra to make their holiday a little happier, please put it in the form of a letter to Santa and drop it in Santa's Mailbox at the Community Center on the 8th and Santa will try to help them on Christmas.
