The hole at Terrace and Overlook has been filled and the paving is nearly done. The road will be open soon. I have posted numerous photos and videos of the repair process at: <http://hearsaynews.org>. If you have photos and/or thoughts about this amazing piece of work, send them to <http://hearsaynews.org> and I will put them up on that page of the website.

Congratulations to Me

40 years ago yesterday I walked down Terrace Avenue for the first time. I had arrived the night before in San Francisco on a Greyhound Bus from Virginia Beach, Virginia. I had twenty-five cents in my pocket, and was newly dropped out from writing speeches for politicians and taking photos of women in beauty shops with their new hairdos. My friend, Susan Henderson, had once-upon-a-time said to me, "If you ever want to drop out from the rat race, give me a call." I was ready. I called her. She was living in Bolinas. It was a beautiful day. The air was filled with butterflies and the smell of eucalyptus. I felt like I had died and gone to heaven. Congratulations to me.

2 MORE SPIRIT HOUSE TENDERS NEEDED

We now have five volunteers to tend the space for all of 2012. With two more tenders, each of us will only need to tend the Spirit House every 2 months. Of course that includes me, the coordinator, taking my turn as well. If you would like to help with this, call June@ 9052 or email me @ junemcadams@gmail.com

Thanks, June

Tony

by Peter Lee as told to StuArt, Bolinas, November 5, 2008

Sloan Kettering Hospital means a lot to New Yorkers. Clark's Bar does too. It was a hang-out for the "in" crowd. Clark's Bar was at 55th and 3rd. My place was a block away and I went to Clark's regularly at noontime for a salad and a hamburger. They made beautiful hamburgers for thirty-five cents. I met a woman there. We got involved and then uninvolved if you know what I mean. We still talked, but she held a grudge. She knew I was a painter, and she challenged me, "You could do a lot with your talent. Why don't you do something worthwhile? Like teach the children at Sloan Kettering Hospital?"

I knew nothing about the hospital which was on the east side, not far away, 68th and York Ave. I thought it over. I don't know what made me do it but I went up there and applied. They accepted me as their resident painter for the children's ward. (I have an honorary degree in child care. When I was onboard ships I took care of the children. I love children, they're honest and they're fun.)

My job was to paint anything they wanted. I sat with them. They were the boss, whatever they wanted I would paint. I never disappointed them, although one time I brought scissors, and sharp scissors were a no-no in the children's ward.

There were a lot of beautiful people volunteering. They called us Blue Bells. I never met such wonderful people. It was good for me. I was there for two years. The director was happy I was there. My job was to keep away the sadness. We had a big play room adjoining a ward with about 40 kids. I went there about 4:30 and stayed to about 6 or whatever. I enjoyed it. I felt good. But the hospital administration was a pain. They insisted I have a doctor. I said I don't need a doctor. We got to arguing and I left after two years.

Long before that I was at the hospital one evening, and a nurse says, "Tony wants to see you." Tony was in bed, about 12 or 13 and dying of leukemia. He was pale and thin and had a long equine face. He looked like a horse.

"Hi, Tony." I said to him. "What you want me to do?"

He handed me a big glob of clay and said "Make me a horse."

"Holy mackerel" I thought, "What a challenge."

I wasn't really a sculptor but I had pretty good hands, and I knew what a horse looked like. When I was 9 years old I was a real cowboy on our ranch in Hollister. I had my own horse and I could ride like the wind. My brother and I took care of a hundred and ninety-five head of cattle. I knew what a horse looked like.

I had this big blob of clay. My fingers mingled with the clay. I was intimidated. Tony wouldn't keep his eyes off me. I had no idea what I was doing. All of a sudden this beautiful horse appeared. I'm not going to get into the spiritual stuff, but a miracle did happen. I couldn't believe it. It was a beautiful horse with flared nostrils and mane streaming in the wind. I handed the horse to Tony. He grasped it in his hand, "Oh, thank you, thank you." he murmured faintly. It wasn't that dramatic or anything. I stayed with him for a while longer. He just held on to that horse.

I'm there for all the kids, but being with Tony was special to me. Finally I got up and said good-bye. I shook his hand and said "I'll see you tomorrow."

I went back the next day. When I walked into Tony's room, there's a nurse and no Tony. We never talked about death at the hospital.

I say "Where's Tony? Where's the horse?"

She was a pretty, Filipino nurse. She had a tear in her eye and didn't answer me, just shook her head sadly.

"I guess the horse took Tony to a better place." I said to her.

KITKA, WINTERSONGS

Few things evoke the magic of the winter holidays as the transcendent splendor of the human voice raised in song. KITKA has researched and discovered a treasure-trove of seasonal music, from a wide variety of Eastern European ethnic and spiritual traditions. "Wintersongs" showcases material ranging from rousing Slavic folk carols to lush, meditative Eastern Orthodox sacred choral works...from mesmerizing pre-Christian incantations for the longest nights of the year to Hebrew chants for Chanukah to original new pieces inspired by the beauty and mystery of wintertime.

NAMASTE

Namaste i say to the sun...
my head lifted to radiance...
in eye closed rainbow brilliance...
melts mind along with heart...
gratitude for warmth and light...
which allows our garden to be...
creating our stage to see...
the nature of HU is good and beautiful...
Namaste i say to the sun...
the light in me reflects the light in you...
let there be light the song we sing...
the chorus of creation...
Namaste we say to the sun... Namaste.
