Rhythmtown Jive is an exciting American roots combo featuring accomplished San Francisco Bay Area musicians recognized nationally for their versatility and outstanding skill. With rich vocal harmonies and tasty saxophone-bl instrumentals, they offer infectious music, delivering inventive, original '40s- and '50s-influenced rhythm & blues, zydeco, jump-swing, rock & and New Orleans gems. They were featured house band at the 15th annual Sacramento Blues Festival in 2012. The band is fronted by Tim Eschlin (founding member of the Christmas Band), vocalist and bassist, who worked formerly with Etta James, Comma Cody, and the Moonlighters. Wear your finest plumage and your dancing shoes to the first Dance Palace Bird Ball!

Auction starts at 3 PM
Free event

'The Soul In Motion' is the title of a collaborative family art show being held at the Stinson Beach library February 1-March 31.

Long time Bolinas resident Patricia Marina and her adult children Aaron Haynes, Ethan Funk and Amber Funk have combined creative forces for a showing of work that is diverse and compelling from collage, and wood carving's to beautiful couture dresses handmade from all recycled materials.

The opening reception for the artists is Tuesday evening, February 11th, 6-8pm. Come celebrate family and make a Valentine collage for yourself or 'sweetie' at the collage table.

Go to Health: Atrazine

The herbicide, atrazine, hit the news this week with an article in the New Yorker of 2/10/14, featuring the work of Professor Tyrone Hayes at the University of California, Berkeley. Hayes, a brilliant and renowned researcher, has spent many years studying the abnormal sexual development of male frogs; they have been found to develop ovaries as well as testes, becoming hermaphrodites. Hayes has experimental evidence that the herbicide atrazine is strongly implicated in these abnormalities and that atrazine may also be related to the worldwide decline in amphibian populations.

Atrazine is made by the company Syngenta. According to the New Yorker article, Syngenta has been trying to discredit Hayes and his work in multiple ways, detailed in the fascinating and frightening exposé in the New Yorker.

Atrazine is one of the most widely used herbicides in the U.S. It is reportedly applied to more than half the corn raised in this country. A study by the EPA found that without atrazine the national corn yield would fall by 6%. But the herbicide degrades slowly in soil, washes into streams and lakes, and breaks down slowly. It is one of the most common contaminants of drinking water in the Midwest – an estimated 30 million Americans are exposed to trace amounts of this chemical. Atrazine, widely believed to be an endocrine disrupter, has been banned by Italy and Germany since 1991 and by the European Union since 2003. The Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) and other environmental organizations have filed lawsuits against the EPA for failure to ban atrazine, so far without results. In August, 2013, a coalition of more than 250 conservation, public-health and sustainable farming groups sent a letter to the EPA asking for a ban on atrazine. According to the New Yorker article, the EPA is conducting another review of the safety of atrazine at this time. If you are upset by this column, you will be very disturbed by the article about Syngenta's attempts to discredit Professor Hayes in the New Yorker. Stay tuned – I will keep you informed on this story as more news becomes available. In the meantime, you can support the NRDC, the Center for Biological Diversity, or other environmental organizations that are working on this issue.

HOW MUCH RAIN DID YOU GET?

I got 5.37 inches of rain for the whole wet event, Thursday to Monday 8 AM. Remember amounts can vary significantly by your location, location of your rain collector, the rain gauge itself and by the honesty of the reporting party. But, it still is fun to compare results.

I have a little over 10 inches to date, July 1, 2013

Let There Be Sound and Light

For four years now, I've been studying the engineering literature and analyzing our Community Center's hall to figure out how to improve its performance sound and, more recently, its theater lighting, so that we can properly showcase our bountiful local talent. (See project details at <BoCenter.org>.) I'd like to thank Jeffrey Commons, Charlie Docherty, Zoro Drux, Dirk Epperson (engaged through Don Read), Burton Eubank, Gabe Faure-Brac, Steve Heaslip, Clay Lilleston, Robin Livingston, Jerry Lunsford, Tony Smith, Paulie the soundman for Bonnie Raitt (through Soozie Mills), Derek Tracy, Duke the structural engineer (through Roger Peacock), Peter Turner, and Anthony Wright for donating valuable consultations to these efforts. The hall today displays a lot of progress.

Acoustic absorbent on the back wall and stage ceiling have eliminated echo, cut down on boomy bass, and helped musicians hear each other much better on stage. Thanks to Chris Besenty, David Kimball, Steve Wrenn, StuArt Chapman, and Matt Yerington for helping with that installation.

To make event setup easier, we've had cabinetmaker Nick Bogle build us a beautiful roll-around sound booth (at a tremendous discount), so that instead of two hours of schlepping and wiring for every gig, we just flip the cover and turn it on. Also, the front-hall tower of boxes and snake-pit of cables have been supplanted by an unobtrusive wall cubby for running activity sound and a locked under-stage rack for the big amplifiers. Thanks also to Ananda Brady, Ralph Camiccia, Jeffrey Manson, and Charles Weismuller for helping make that all happen.

Lighting got a big boost from the Dance Palace (thanks to Burton again) donating us their entire recently replaced lighting system and from Jeffrey Trotter giving us a bargain on his 24-fader console. New light-mounting pipes installed with the help of Matt again, plus Rick Sherman, will help us hang it all and aim it right.

But there's more to do, including relocating the speakers, installing bass traps, adding microphones, rewiring the lighting power into new dimmers, refurbishing the spotlights, and upgrading the stage. Despite over $20,000 saved using donated labor and equipment, we're still thousands short and really want to bring the project to a conclusion. Please come to our dinner/dance party project fundraiser this Friday, kick up your heels, and kick in some $ even if you can't come on Friday. Thanks!

- Don Smith

WHAT HAPPENED MONDAY MORNING WEEKLY REVIEW 2/10/14 WRAP AND RECAP from JenniePfeiffer

What happened this week was glorious RAIN!, causing a giant countywide and beyond sigh of relief, as boots, raincoats, and umbrellas came out for rainy day walks; garden planning resumed; and water tables started inching upwards. Nothing like a serious drought to make rainstorms so welcomed. Our year old granddaughter was startled, surprised, and delighted to discover rain. That made me realize it's been a big chunk of her life since we've had a daytime downpour.

What also happened, in spite of stormy weather and with no dampening of spirits, was Friday night's Valentine open mic in the Quesada Room at the school's Bolinas campus. The event was sponsored by ELAC, English Language Advisory Committee, and coordinated by Anny Owen and Sarah MacDonald. The tamales were delicious, and the children sang, danced, told jokes, played piano, and read poems with great enthusiasm - such a delightful night.

Something that did NOT happen, was the Pre Valentine's Day Flea Market/ Sidewalk Sale at Brighton Square. It is postponed until another day. If you're interested in helping organize regular sales, leave your name at Uniquities Variety store (between Seashore Realty and 2-mile Surf Shop, at the back of the bookstore), so we can work on clutter control this spring. After all, "clutter" is just stuff out of place, so finding the right place for items can help take care of that pesky problem. Chronically out of place items can be released to new homes, or turned into art and sold at a spring sidewalk sale.

What also did not happen this week, was all the things that rain makes difficult, like finding a dry place to sleep if you don't have a home. We can thank the churches that stepped forward with shelter cots for those in need. It's a reminder to be more thankful for shelter and more sensitive to others in the community. My discovery of leaks in the porch roof, was a minimal inconvenience by comparison.

Soccer in the rain happened, a slippery, slidey mudder of a game that replaces skill with luck and hilarity.

For those members of the Porrata-Powell family in Pt. Reyes Station, a part of our greater West Marin community, it was a mingling of rain and tears of grieving due to the sudden, untimely death of Roneil Powell, an active, much loved part of family life in that town and beyond. We offer condolences. Loss of a loved one is overwhelming; loss of a young husband and father still in the full bloom of his 43 years of life is unimaginable. Far West Fest, kids sports, and all the things that make that part of the world go around, will not be the same. For this, and all those who suffered a stormy loss, I am saddened. Those left remaining in the here and now must press on regardless.
