Friday, March 3, 5:30 PM to 8:30 PM Presented by the West Marin Coalition for Healthy Kids, WMS PTSA & ELAC groups. Are you watching kids scroll through life, with their rapid-fire thumbs and a six-second attention span? Physician and filmmaker Delaney Ruston saw that with her own kids and learned that the average kid spends 6.5 hours a day looking at screens. She wondered about the impact of all this time and about the friction occurring in homes and schools around negotiating screen time—friction she knew all too well. Through poignant, and unexpectedly funny stories, along with surprising insights from authors, psychologists, and brain scientists, SCREENAGERS reveals how tech time impacts kids' development and offers solutions on how adults can empower kids to best navigate the digital world and find balance. For more information call (415) 446-8587.

Review of Community & Tourism Meeting

If you missed the remarkable coastal Marin meeting about community and tourism last Thursday at the Dance Palace—You can hear a review of the event in my interview with Karen Gray, who introduced the meeting on behalf of the Point Reyes Village Association who organized the event on behalf of all our small coastal communities. The overflowing audience represented all of our communities.

Great Entertainment

Our own beloved Jerry Bojeste's latest stage creation De-Love-alution is a partly tragic but mostly comic romp/Odyssey with the ill-starred Templesteen family, who have been brought down by Dad's Wall-Street shenanigans but brought together in the end by Love, the universal antidote, in a heartwarming finale. It's great entertainment with an important message for our troubled time.

Opening Night came off without a hitch, weaving smoothly through the many rapid scene, costume, and mood changes, with Omar and Garnett nailing the dramatic sound and lighting effects perfectly on cue. All of this was couched in a lavish set full of bright, bold scenery and props created by Harriet Kossman and helpers. Layered into all this were many beautiful songs written by Amanda Mann and Victoria Hazlett, plus dozens of hilarious lines, word-plays, and body moves.

The cast was exceptional and reminded me of the wealth of local talent we have here. The lead characters were convincing and nuanced, and the supporting cast included a host of colorful characters from goofy to sleazy, whose versatile actors played multiple roles in rapid succession.

I admit to being worried ahead of time about the complexity of this ambitious production. But good old Jerry, with his boundless energy and enduring optimism, pulled it off yet again. I am so grateful to have such great yet budget-wise entertainment offered right down the street.

Don't miss out! Catch it this Friday or Saturday (or both!), 8pm at the BCC.

Two Amazing Tales: Obstetric Fistula Repair and Women on Waves outside Guatemala

Obstetric Fistula: Women in some African countries may endure days of obstructed labor, due to an immature pelvis secondary to early marriage, or a contracted vaginal opening due to female genital mutilation. (See my latest column on genital mutilation at sadjascolumns.blogspot.com.) The baby is often stillborn, or the woman dies in labor because of a lack of hospitals performing Cesarean sections. If she survives, the prolonged pressure on the vaginal walls often causes openings to appear between the vagina and the rectum or bladder. She will leak urine and feces, becoming an outcast, often living alone and prone to suicide. The story of one such woman is remarkable. After three days of obstructed labor in Ethiopia, and a dead baby, she was taken to a hospital in Addis Ababa that specializes in fistula surgery. The hospital is run by two Australian doctors, who spend their lives in fistula reconstruction. The patient, Ms. Mamitu, was cured and decided to stay on at the hospital. She was given a job making beds for other patients. Then she began helping out during surgeries. After a couple of years of watching, the doctor asked her to cut some stitches. Eventually, she was performing the entire fistula repair herself. She gradually became an experienced fistula surgeon, teaching gynecologic surgeons from many countries. Still illiterate, she decided to go to night school to learn to read and write. When last heard of, she was in third grade. This is a wonderful story of enormous perseverance and a drive to help regardless of qualifications.

Women on Waves (WoW) has sent a ship to international waters outside of Guatemala. Women on Waves is a Dutch pro-choice, non-profit organization created in 1999 by Dutch physician Rebecca Gomperts, in order to bring reproductive health services, particularly non-surgical abortion services, to women in countries with restrictive abortion laws. Other services offered by WoW include contraception and reproductive counseling. Services are provided on a commissioned ship that contains a specially constructed mobile clinic. When WoW visits a country, women make appointments, and are taken on board the ship. The ship then sails out to international waters (where Dutch laws are in effect on board the ship) to perform the medical abortions (abortion performed in the first 10 weeks of pregnancy with pills). Abortion is legal in Guatemala only if the woman's life is in danger from the pregnancy, and if the procedure is endorsed by two doctors. As a result an estimated 65,000 illegal and unsafe abortions take place in Guatemala each year. Yearly, approximately 21,600 women are hospitalized with complications, and unsafe abortions are the third cause of maternal death in the country. Especially at the dawn of the Zika crisis, access to safe abortion is fundamentally an issue of social justice. WoW

SINGER SONGWRITER NIGHT AT THE LIBRARY

Come join us for another round of lovely original tunes from our local singer songwriters next Tues, Feb 28th at the Bolinas Library. Last month's event was so successful that we'd like to do it again with more great folks;

Danny Vitali-Based out of Point Reyes, this local musician extraordinaire is involved in many musical configurations around the Bay Area. His most recent album released last year, is "Invernesia".

Kimberley Hett- lives in Inverness, and sings beautiful ballads under the name Milky Momma. She also appears in the country cover band The Gospel Flatters, and is the lead singer/songwriter for Someone Company with their first album to come out this year.

Dylan Flynn- Local blacksmith and jack-of-all trades also preforms under the name Salt Suns. You may have seen him play at a Bolinas Museum Concert series last summer!

Isaiah Mead- Multi-instrumentalist, the other half of Salt Suns, also plays under his own name. Like Mr. Flynn, his music is inspired by and deeply rooted in American Folk/blues.

Don't miss it!!!

is asking the Guatemalan government to remove abortion from the penal code, to provide evidence based sexual education in schools and to ensure access to contraceptives;

On 22 February 2017, the WoW ship docked in Puerto Quetzal on the Pacific coast for a planned five-day visit. On 23 February, a scheduled press conference was shut down shortly after it started and a blockade was imposed by Army troops, preventing the activists from disembarking and visitors from boarding. However, according to Gomperts' writings on Twitter, the ship is still outside Puerto Quetzal and the situation has not been completely resolved.

WoW is active in many countries throughout the world where abortion is illegal. When contacted by phone or Internet, they will send abortion pills by mail, with careful instructions for use. They have sent pills into Poland by drone! You can donate to Women on Waves by check or credit card - by going to their website.

Dear Bolinas Friends:

Don't miss miss Sally Kempton at The New School at Commonweal this Thursday from 10 to 2. She'll speak on "Approaching True Power: Divine Feminine Practice in Nondual Tantra." Sally is a NY-based teacher who spent 20 years as a teaching swami in Swami Muktananda's ashram. In 2002 she began to teach independently her Awakened Heart Tantra workshops. She has written two excellent books, "Meditation for the Love of It" and "Awakening Shakti: The Transformative Power of the Goddesses of Yoga" (both from Sounds True Press). Her work is important because of the continuing imbalance in our patriarchal culture of imagines of the divine. Sally write's with a scholar's depth and a teacher's accessibility. Her second book starts with this insight from Hindu sage Aurobindo Ghose -- "If there is to be a future, it will wear a crown of feminine design." Sally demonstrates how to find that inner crown by reflecting on eleven Hindu goddesses. Her understanding of nondual tantra is profound. This conversation continues our study of archetypal psychologies -- from Carl Jung to James Hillman, Rachel Remen, Angeles Arrien, Frances Weller, Bill Glenn on Enneagram, John Gouldthorpe on Goethe and Hillman, Patricia Berry and others. I hope you will join us for a conversation that promises to me memorable.

Many thanks, Michael

WHAT HAPPENED THIS WEEK
2/27/17 MONDAY MORNING MEMO
Week in Review Recap from Jennie Pfeiffer

It's been a week of wondering in town. Just what is that little building going up between the gas station and the Community Center? Is it a Land Trust affordable housing tiny home rental? Is it a gas station attendant station? Could it be a ticket booth for the Community Center? Is it a homeless shelter, dog shelter, visitor parking permit sign-in office? Perhaps it's a "time out" safe place for when things get to be just too much; or a drive-by Confessional for quick confessions after judgment errors in town. Could it be a drive up medical or recreational marijuana dispensary? Maybe it's a graffiti house for inspirational paintings to "make it beautiful" as per Measure G? Questions and more questions: is it permitted; is it in the fire zone; does it have proper setbacks; is it going to negatively impact access for Yerington's, the gas station or the people living in the units next door? Did anyone talk with neighbors about it before construction started? It's all very exciting and townsfolk are all abuzz because inquiring minds want to know. I'm sure it will all become clear.

Big congratulations are in order for community members and others involved in Jerry Bojeste's most recent theatrical production, "Delovealution", performed at the Community Center. It's an ambitious song and dance comedy, written and directed by Jerry with some original songs; two written and performed by Amanda Mann, and three by Victoria Hazlett. I was there for Friday night's sneak peak performance and things seemed to go without a hitch, at least none noticeable to the audience, and I was impressed with the sound (Omar Rifkin) and lights (Garnett Silver-Hall) operation --no simple task, as fast changes were required. Sets were simple but well executed; coordinated by Dave Moritz and artistically created by Camille Le Signe, Harriet Kossman (beautiful rocks and clouds) and Mark Sanchez Corea, who seemed to wear the most hats with art work, stage hand work, and no less that 5 on stage very humorous parts. Mark was part of a nice ensemble cast that included William McGovern, Rebecca Nile, Amanda Mann, Temple Gunter, Victoria Hazlett, Camille Le Signe, Maddy Muir, Stephen Simac and of course the man himself, Jerry Bojeste. If you missed it, you have another opportunity to see it again this weekend, Friday and Saturday nights.

I understand there was some "Fake News" at the Oscars last night as it was announced that "LA LA Land" won best picture, but it was actually "Moonlight" that took the high honors. Oops, that was a bit of an embarrassment.

And speaking of embarrassment, I managed to toss my fleece soccer warm-up pants in the back of the wrong car after soccer yesterday. I realize that seems like a strange thing to do, but the cars are very similar, were parked close to each other, and the hatch back of the wrong car was unlocked after Ned hit the unlock button on his key. So if you were at soccer yesterday, and find some unknown black fleece sweats in the back of you car, they are mine. Could it be a senior moment? Hate to think I have so quickly segued into my senior 70's. Not like the Fabulous fifty's or the serene sixty's, although I think I can count the serene days of my 60's on one hand. And time moves ever onward with more questions than answers. Jp

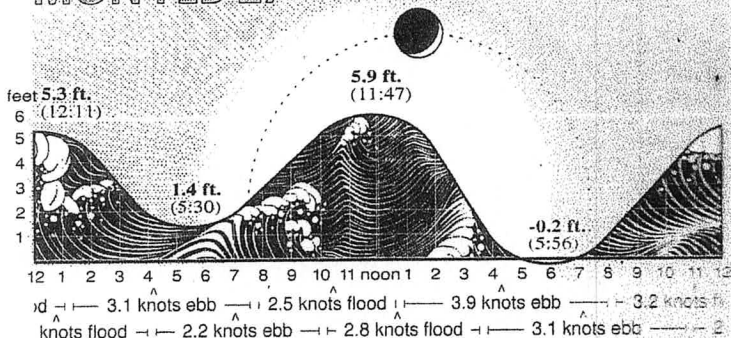

P.S. Thanks Pam Springer and all the Bolinas bodacious bakers, for another awesome bake sale supporting the stalwarts at Standing Rock. And thanks Jesse McCollum, for your courageous efforts. Good to have you home. jp
