THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

- Zipping up to Lake Tahoe for a week-end of skiing. In the rain as it turned out. Fun anyway.
- Montbretia—those lovely red-gold flowers in the lily family that thrive all over the mesa—coming into bloom.
- El Nino, finally hitting with a vengeance. We need it.

WHAT HAPPENED THIS WEEK

3/7/16 Monday Morning Recap from Jenie Pfeiffer

It was all about storms this weekend with more predicted to come, along with the mighty El Nino winds. The ants, having started their spring march, have retreated to wherever they dwell. In looking at last year's recap, I see I had reported that they made their seasonal appearance at this time, a week later than the year before, for those of you keeping track of such things.

The first of what appears to be an annual Sock Hop event hosted by the Bolinas-Stinson Middle School students had good reviews in last year's column, so I would encourage everyone to get there Saturday, March 12, 2016, when it will again be taking place, because it definitely put some FUN in this FUNd raising activity.

I am so sad to be missing hopping in my socks, because I will once again be traveling to Chicago, hopefully to be bringing my sister Joan back with me to start another go around of living in the Bay Area.

When I return, I will be looking forward to the opening of the Little League Season and the annual St. Paddy's Day Soccer game at Mesa Park, on our beautiful field, looking so lush with all this rain.

I heard there was an unfortunate discovery of a lifeless person on Brighton Beach, so condolences to the family of this as yet unknown individual - so disconcerting and regrettable.

Tomorrow night is the monthly School Board of Trustees meeting, which will be in Stinson Beach this month. We are talking about Strategic Planning, among other topics, so join in if you can. All Best, jp (so happy I got to do some fun snow sledding with my kids and grandkids this weekend)

Perfect day for a hike to Table Rock! Estella, Lourdes, Simon, Maurius, Jasmin, Maittrella, Julia, Janet and Fiona took ice cream cones to the Matt Davis trail! Miner's lettuce and flowering thimble berry plants lined the lush trail. Each bridge had a healthy stream underneath where we wet our heads on the warm incline. The view at the top was breathtaking, we enjoyed drinking cool water and snacking on Havachips.

We held a forum for things we do on a regular basis to encourage a healthy lifestyle and a sense of well being. Many spoke of bathing every day, showering but also the relaxation and release of a good soak. We spoke of the research that cites the benefits of immersing oneself in water, salty or otherwise for good health. Participating in some form of exercise was also talked about. Being a part of track and field, lifting weights, surfing, going to dance class, strengthening with a band for the shot put, and playing soccer were cited. We spoke of the trials and tribulations of becoming a teenager and negotiating parental dynamics. Having a physical practice is a way to keep balanced and have something of your own apart from school and family. Other ways the group found a sense of internal well being was making sure they walked the beach or sat at the ocean's edge on a regular basis. Many used music as a way of feeling good and clearing the mind. We took photos documenting our place above the Pacific and hiked back down. From our high vantage point everyone thought it would be good to dine sea level. So, we took our incredible Parkside Pizza to the beach! We brought John and Max the card we had made thanking them for the incredible dinner that nourishes us every Monday. The surf was up and the tide too! Was awesome to take in the sky becoming pinker with every moment that sunset neared. Was sweet when high schooler's Leonardo and Willy joined us for pizza with their boards and wetsuits fresh from a session. Our orange frisbee floated in the air, we balanced on tree trunks and stayed as long as we could before grabbing backpacks and heading to catch The Stage.

Everyone is excited about our self defense workshop next week!

N This festival was observed by the Romans from the wood of the cypress tree, which is sacred to her. It is also the Jewish spring festival of Purim.
