A Memorial Tribute to Adrienne Rich

Adrienne Rich, who died at her home in Santa Cruz on March 27th, was a writer and thinker of enormous stature. Her first book of poetry was singled out by W. H. Auden for the Yale Younger Poets series in 1951 and Rich continued publishing books of poems in every subsequent decade. Unabashed in her critical thinking, she possessed a unique and oracular voice in American poetry.

Adrienne was hobbled by pain from rheumatoid arthritis for her entire adult life, dying aged 82. She persevered and remained true to vows of integrity and beauty despite her slowly disintegrating capabilities, living the end of her life as elegantly and meaningfully as if it were a poem she was crafting. Her last volume was entitled, Tonight No Poetry Will Serve. Please join us in an informal memorial to Rich's singular accomplishment and her implacable tenacity. Bring some poems along and share them with us.

ALPHA YAYA DIALLO & THE BAFING RIDERS—AFRICAN GUITAR, PERCUSSION, AND DANCE

Saturday, April 21, 8 PM

Tickets: $24, $22 seniors, $12 teens
Sponsored by Lagunitas Brewery

Guitarist and singer Alpha Yaya Diallo, from Guinea in West Africa, is one of the hottest acts on the current world music scene. Now based in Vancouver, Canada, he's earned a matchless reputation internationally for the excellence of his musicianship and the excitement of his live shows—whether performing solo or with his band, The Bafing Riders. Diallo is a uniquely multitalented artist. His dexterous acoustic and electric guitar-playing, with its fluid melodic lines and compelling grooves, places him in the front ranks of African axemen. In addition, he is a skilled and experienced performer on a variety of percussion instruments, and on the balafon (traditional wooden xylophone). To complete the abundance of riches, Diallo writes his own compositions, and sings with a supple and beautifully modulated voice.

Go to Health: Sleeping pills

Last week I wrote about the benefits of our own body's melatonin in promoting good sleep. Shutting out the blue wavelengths of the light spectrum by the use of blue-blocking glasses is helpful; these special glasses should be worn for 1-2 hours before bedtime, and can be fitted over reading glasses. Blue-blocking glasses promote the secretion of your own melatonin – your sleep hormone – and they help you fall asleep and stay asleep. You can write the words sadjascolumns on google or bing and find my April 9th post for more details.

The most popular prescription drugs for insomnia these days are Ambien, Lunesta and Sonata. While effective for many users, they have side effects and can be habit forming if used continuously. Sleep apnea can become worse with these powerful sleeping pills. In some people, Ambien is associated with sleepwalking, and eating when asleep without conscious awareness. Driving under the influence is hazardous. Elderly users of these medications have an increased risk of falls and cognitive side effects.

The most problematic aspect of these prescription drugs is found in an article published in the British Medical Journal on February 27th, 2012. Entitled Hypnotics' association with mortality or cancer: a matched cohort study, this article concludes that people who received prescriptions for sleeping pills had an increased risk of death or a cancer diagnosis, when followed for 2.5 years between 2002 and 2007. The word 'hypnotic' refers to a medication causing sleep. The study was done at Scripps Health in San Diego. The authors searched the electronic medical records of a large health system in the US, and matched 10,529 patients who received sleeping pill prescriptions with 23,676 matched controls who did not. The average age was 54 years. Patients prescribed any sleeping pill (Ambien, Lunesta, Sonata, benzodiazepines, barbiturates and sedative antihistamines) had an elevated risk of death, with a dose-response association. Even people taking 18 pills a year or less, showed some increased risk. Sleeping pill use in the upper third of the cohort was associated with a small but significant elevation of a cancer diagnosis. The researchers did not think that the death or cancer hazards were associated with pre-existing conditions. The authors stated that 24 previous studies have shown an association between use of prescription sleeping pills and mortality. No studies have shown that the use of such pills prolongs life or prevents cancer! The mechanisms involved in these associations have yet to be elucidated.

Here are some conclusions I draw from this disturbing study. If you have been give prescription sleeping pills in the hospital, or at a very difficult time in your life, don't worry. The use of benzodiazepines - such as Ativan – for people who are dying is absolutely justified. However, for most of us it is better not to rely on these pills for regular use. It is best to do everything possible to increase your natural melatonin secretion - exercise during the day, expose yourself to natural light or even a light box in the morning, wear blue-blocking glasses for 1-2 hours before bedtime. Talk to your doctor or nurse-practitioner about a safe and slow way to decrease prescription sleeping pills if you have taken them regularly for more than 2 weeks.

Daniel Kripke, the lead author on the Scripps paper, suggests the following for better sleep - keep the light out in your bedroom, try meditation or prayer, and learn progressive muscle relaxation or self-hypnosis. He also suggests taking melatonin tablets if you are a night owl, to reset your sleep-wake rhythms. He suggests talking to your doctor about an appropriate low dose of melatonin to try at bedtime. My advice is – start with 0.5 mg, and go up to 1-3 mg as needed. The kind that dissolves under the tongue goes most directly into your bloodstream. But – get those blue-blocking glasses, for the most natural sleep! Read about them at LowBlueLights.com.

MONDAY MEETING REPORT 4/16/12
From Jennieffeiffer

MONDAY'S MESA PARK MONTHLY MEETING included discussion of the downtown park, which should be ready for use by this summer. The Board is putting together a budget that will cover maintenance for both parks, up Mesa and down Town, including their toilet facilities. Evidently, naming rights for the former "Burnt Park" are still up in the air. I think Bolinas Stonehenge Park is good, because of all the beautiful stone work, which is really quite impressive and lovely to sit on in the sunshine. It does seem some smoothing of the sharper edges might be good to keep it from being Baby Bump and Boo Boo park. The Board is also working on a plot plan for placement of possible additions to Mesa Park, including the proposed pool. Should this include a gym also? That was a plan years ago, but without water the pool/rec. center was put on indefinite hold. With the acquisition of a water meter for restrooms, maybe a reexamination of the long range plan might be in order, especially now that the school is starting discussion of a gym at the Bolinas Campus. We certainly don't need overlapping planning and fund raising projects.

I've been noticing several ads on the radio and the internet lately about solar companies - Solar City, Sungevity, etc - that are offering major price reduction incentives and rebates for installing Solar. I looked into a deal from Sungevity which looked great, the only drawback was the required building inspections. I spoke with Steve Kinsey about this and he told me the County is very keen on having people move toward solar, so would be very willing to look into 3rd party inspections, so the building/planning dept. inspectors wouldn't have to be on site. We need to bring this up at the next BCPUD meeting. We also need to work to make sure Kinsey gets reelected this June. He has really served us well.

Yesterday's SECOND SUNDAY SALE had some fun activity and those who showed up for the Rummage reorganizational meeting decided to move the event back to Saturday, with Sunday as a back up in case of rain or holidays or for those who want to sell two days. I will be opening the work studio on Sunday's, for those who need help with the recovery of sick furniture. I will be posting a firmer schedule. Be looking for the May Royal Rummage Sale to be, Saturday, May 12th, with a clinic for furniture recovery on May 13th, Mother's Day. jp

THREE MORE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

(1) Catching the last sunset at Poplar Rd bluff before the sun travels northward behind the Commonweal headland. The spring season is rushing forward.

(2) Finally a forecast of some sunny days this week.

(3) Julie Augustyn's refurbishing of the Dave Gleason hobbit cave—a total transformation that still remains true to his indomitable spirit.

Governor's proposal to eliminate the California Commission on the Status of Women

The Commission has advocated for California women and girls for 47 years. Women have made tremendous progress in the years since the Commission was created but full equality has not yet been achieved.

- Women make only 84 cents for every dollar earned by men; African-American women earn only 68 cents and Latinas only 59 cents;

- Women fill only 28% of the seats in the California State Legislature;

- 40% of women experience intimate partner violence in their lifetime;

- In California's 400 largest companies, women comprise only 3.3% of CEO's;

- The current budget crisis and economic recession are having a disproportionately negative impact on women and children and

- More than one third of households headed by women with children have income that falls below the poverty level.

While organizations such as AAUW California advocate for women and girls at the state level, this is very different from having a dedicated state agency - a voice WITHIN government. The Commission is the only independent voice within state government for women and girls. Don't let that voice be silenced!

To find out more about the Commission's work go to www.women.ca.gov

The Bolinas Museum is seeking an inspiring, community-focused, creative individual to become its next Executive Director. Current ED, Vandy Seeburg, is retiring after many years of working in the arts and non-profit sector. So, a search is on for the right person with administrative, curatorial and development skills along with understanding of our local communities. The Mission of the Museum is to "Collect, preserve and exhibit the arts and history of Coastal Marin and to present exhibitions and events that provide inspiration and cultural enrichment to its residents and visitors."

The Bolinas Museum, with its five galleries of art, photography and history, has a reputation for excellence, and is supported by a strong membership. Though exhibitions lean toward showing work from accomplished Coastal Marin artists, the Museum has presented exhibitions as varied as Classic Miniatures of India from the 17th to 19th centuries to Contemporary Native American art. Some exhibitions have included works by art luminaries, among them Goldsworthy, Bernhard, Misrach, Diebenkorn and Neri. Fundraising events and a strong membership allow all exhibitions and most courtyard concerts and events to be free of charge to everyone.

This is a challenging but rewarding full-time job requiring flexibility, imagination and attention to detail. The new Director will join a small, experienced staff, a supportive Board of Directors and volunteers who give their time and skills to the museum.

For the full job description, go to the museum's website, bolinasmuseum.org.

HOW TO PLACE AN AD IN THE HEARSAY

Come to the office at 270 Elm at Maple behind the BPUD office on a Monday, Wednesday or Friday morning 9-11am. Your ad will appear the same day! Ad forms are also available in the small mailbox next to the Hearsay Door. Fill out the form, enclose payment (please indicate you have enclosed payment in case they become separated) & drop in door slot.
