THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

- Impromptu post-soccer supper. So sweet it required a blessing.
- BoBOP (bring your own plate) dinner at the mushroom house. Amazing place—all these years, was never inside.
- Marijuna, for pain or whatever. Let's just legalize it.

WHAT HAPPENED THIS WEEK

5/16/16 Monday Morning Recap from Jennieffeiffer

It was another busy weekend, making me thankful for a low key beautiful Monday. I must admit that for downtown traffic and congestion reasons, I love it when we have drizzly or windy weekends, and beautiful weekdays, allowing us to reclaim our town a little bit.

The down side of Saturday's drizzle was a dampening of the Skate Park festivities at Mesa Park. Fortunately, part of the event was planned for indoors at the Community Center, so I hope the fundraising was not negatively impacted. I want to commend Tyrone Brendel, and the other organizers of the Skate Park money raiser for all the energetic preparatory work that went into obtaining items for auction and for making arrangements for such a big event. I know there were many people involved, I just happened to see Tyrone's name on so many postings. It's nice to see the next generation of young people stepping up with Community involvement.

Saturday turned into a beautiful evening and I was so fortunate to be able to enjoy some chicken and pizza that was cooked in the 2nd Saturday cob oven firing in the downtown park. It was served with a beautiful ocean view, as a pod of whales frolicked and spouted out just past Duxbury Reef. That was a first for me and it was very exciting to see.

Friday night's Take 2 Grateful Dead fundraiser for Bernie Sanders was a happy, finger licking, Grilled Cheese night of music, movies, and money raised for the Sanders campaign. Seems like $1400 was contributed. Thanks to Julie Augustyn, Shari Faye Dell, Omar Rifkin, Peter Kalat, Tania Bedford, Katherine Wever, and many others who worked to make it happen. Open mic brought out Charlie Docherty and Friends, Bronwen Halsey Murch, Michael Knowlton, Beth Carusillo, Carol Ann Krueger, Rob, Alex and others I have still to identify. It was a fun dancing night.

Meetings of the week included Monday's Mesa Park meeting, that among other agenda items, addressed the chain across the downtown park drive. One good suggestion was to replace the chain with a middle post that allows pedestrian use when in place, and can be removed for vehicle access.

At Tuesday night's School Board of Trustees meeting, it was reported that our projected enrollment for next year it 86 students! A startling reduction of almost 15%, which threw open discussion about how to address this dramatic change and led to a reshuffling of the staffing plan. There will need to be a shift in the focus of our Strategic Planning process as we look at what our next year will look like and what we can do about the housing issues that make it so difficult for our young families to stay in West Marin. In light of this reduction, the Board will not be hiring a replacement for a teacher on maternity leave, and we will be combining some classes and rethinking what the staffing will look like for the 2016-17 school year, as we press on regardless. jp

For Breaking News Photography

Sergey Ponomarev, Mauricio Lima, Daniel Etter
and Tyler Hicks

These four photographers chronicled what began as a trickle of refugees to Europe from Syria and other war-torn nations, and swelled into an exodus of more than a million. Sergey Ponomarev, Mauricio Lima, Daniel Etter and Tyler Hicks scrambled across beaches, marched through fields and clambered over barbed wire as they followed the migrants, step by step, through Europe. Their images captured the scale and breadth of this crisis, as well as the commonplace, sometimes horrific, travails of individuals lost in a mass of humanity. They put a face on the mothers, the fathers, the children, the families whose desperation created Europe's biggest political and human drama in decades.
