THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

(1) Drake's Beach Café—a great little restaurant, especially last weekend, when they staged Irish music to encourage the beach cleanup volunteers.

(2) Autumn equinox, coming up Saturday. Are you ready for the next six months of nights being longer than days?

(3) On its 50th anniversary, the Point Reyes National Seashore. There've been headaches but boy am I glad they're there.

NPS Prescribed Fire Next Week to Control Invasive Plant Near Bolinas

Golden Gate National Recreation Area plans to conduct the 7-acre Lagoon Prescribed Fire during the week of September 17 near the intersection of Bolinas-Fairfax Rd. and Highway One, across from Bolinas Lagoon. Cooperators assisting the National Park Service will include Marin County Fire Department, Bolinas Fire Department, Stinson Beach Fire Department and other local agencies. The prescribed fire is tentatively planned for Wednesday, September 19, but the date may change based on weather conditions.

The primary objective of this project is to manage a population of non-native French broom (Genista monspessulana) which has invaded areas of grassland and coastal scrub along the Highway One corridor between Olema and Stinson Beach as well as many other areas in Marin County. The area to be burned next week includes the largest unmanaged French broom infestation in the Bolinas area on GGNRA land. Prescribed fire kills French broom plants and reduces the seed bank.

The Lagoon Prescribed Fire project will also maintain areas of grassland which would otherwise develop into dense shrub and forest where a wildfire would be more difficult to control. This will contribute to ongoing efforts to create a strategic fuel break along Highway One where the potential for vehicle ignited wildfires is high. Other similar small areas are burned along the Highway One corridor approximately every other year.

No road closures are anticipated, however, there may be short traffic delays along Highway One while burning is in progress. Short term smoke impacts are expected. Smoke sensitive individuals are encouraged to take actions to avoid or minimize exposure to smoke. See www.airquality.org/smokeimpact/ for details.

To receive an email when the burn days are confirmed, contact the fire education office at 415-464-5133 or by email atjennifer_chapman@nps.gov.

FABULOUS ART

It's always fascinating to see what happens when an artist switches fields. Sheila Lopez worked with dance theater for decades, mounting original one-of-a-kind productions with adults and teenagers.

Now she pours this prodigious creative energy into intense, exquisite prints that reflect her theatrical sensibilities coupled with meticulous attention to detail. The moods and subjects vary, some over-the-top exuberant, some subtle and mysterious. Stylistically, there are many influences at play, including Japanese and graphic art.

She's showing at the Healing Arts Gallery in Stinson Beach for a few more weeks. Fri/Sat/Sun 12-5. Check it out!

MOSTLY MEETINGS & MISCELLANY

Monday Morning Recap & Week in Review for 9/17/12
From Jennieffeiffer

THE SCHOOL WEEK STARTED MONDAY WITH THE SIXTH GRADERS LEAVING FOR A CLASS TRIP TO TO THE SIERRA WITH TEACHER DON JOLLY, laying the groundwork for their middle school investigation into the natural sciences. The 8th grade leaves today for Joshua Tree National Park, with the culmination of their extensive three years of field work. The 7th grade works in and out of class all year toward their major two week excursion in the spring to Utah, where they learn to identify and locate remnants of the era when dinosaurs roamed the San Rafael swell there. All of our students are very lucky to have so many opportunities to study outside the classroom, taking exciting field trips and bringing their classroom studies to life. We have an outstanding school program with a superlative staff, and we're so very happy that Elaine Doss was able to step in as interim principal while we look to find a permanent replacement for Leo Kostelnik. Elaine is doing an excellent job, and under guidance of Superintendent Larry Enos, has come up to speed really quickly, smoothing out the start of school bumps that can come up with a new year and new program adjustments. School is running smoothly and staff and parents are looking forward to Back-to-school night this coming Thursday.

The school's Green Team met Tuesday. This is a group of parents, community members, staff, and Board who meet every other month to offer ideas for ways to make our school community more environmentally sustainable. This committee started meeting in 2008, and has been helpful in researching toxic product alternatives and activities that lighten our carbon footprint. Anny Owen and Kevin Pedersen have worked together to get students on bikes, and this year the bike to school mornings have expanded, adding Thursday's to the Friday bike rides that were happening all last year. There is always more room for interested people to join this committee, so leave your name in the office if you have time to offer.

Otherwise, in town this week, there was the beach cleanup day, led once again by Susan Tacherra. Thanks to her and to all those who pitched in to help. I heard on the radio that 40% of all beach cleanup debris is cigarette related - butts and filters. Yikes! When do we get it about all the ramifications of smoking?

Saturday's TRUE STORIES at St. Aiden's were charming and enjoyable. Writers/readers were Neshama Franklin, Camilla Ford, James "Kirk" Kirkham, Elizabeth Vezzani, Rob Stewart, Jane Mickelson, and Whitney Roberson. They were delightful. ENCORE! jp

Frank Echenhofer, a full time Bolinas resident, currently teaches the psychology of religion at the California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS) in San Francisco in addition to being a clinician and consciousness researcher.

In 1991 he conducted research under the Dalai Lama's guidance in India. Over many years he has been a long term student of several Tibetan Buddhist and Sufi teachers and has studied with Shipibo and other Shaman in Brazil and Peru where he has traveled on a yearly basis since 2000.

On Tuesday night, 9/18 at 7pm at the Bolinas Library, Frank will provide an informal talk with slides & video about his adventures, mishaps, direct experiences, reflections, and published research about ayahuasca shamanism as practiced in South America.

The potential benefits of ayahuasca for healing, creativity and spiritual development will be explored. In addition, the risks related to ayahuasca use will also be fully discussed so as to reduce the potential harm associated with the ingestion of any powerful psychedelic. Time will be provided for questions and discussion.

Gardens Healing the Earth

Conversation with Penny Livingston-Stark, James Stark, Avis Rappaport Licht, and Michael Lerner

Please register for this free event using the online registration system on our website.

In celebration of the 35th anniversary of Commonweal Garden, founder Avis Rappaport Licht—and Regenerative Design Institute founders Penny Livingston Stark and James Stark—speak with Michael Lerner about their work with the earth and teaching hundreds of programs on permaculture, nature awareness, and leadership. Join them as they honor all those who have contributed to making the Commonweal Garden what it is today.

The event will be held at the Commonweal Administrative Building (not Commonweal Garden) at 451 Mesa Ave in Bolinas. Following the event, James and Penny invite you to Commonweal Garden for a reception starting immediately after the New School conversation ends.
