Golden Years

by StuArt

These are the golden years. A couple of recent experiences have confirmed that.

Leah asked me to letter a memorial bench for Alan Margolis. I helped her unload it from her truck and we placed it underneath the holly tree in my signshop area.

The bench was lightweight and strong, made from Acacia hardwood and colored with a beautiful russet stain.

In memory of Alan Margolis, a follower of the way was the inscription I was to letter, and I wanted to paint it in gold.

But when I lettered the bench the gold paint disappeared into the russet color. So I repainted it, and the gold still vanished.

Fortunately I had some Super Pearl Gold in my paint supplies and I added that and painted it again - good, but not good enough.

Finally on the fourth try I got the contrast I was looking for.

By this time of course I had developed a relationship with the bench underneath the holly tree. I enjoyed the bench's company while I worked on various projects. And the inscription glowed and reminded me of the life force that had been Alan.

And that life force was still here.

The second golden experience happened with the big BO GAS sign on the side of the gas station. Anarchists had bombed the sign with red spray paint, neatly eradicating the words 'GAS' and 'ENERGY' so that the sign read "BO' and "COMMUNITY"

The anarchists' protest was against the oil industry, or that's what I assumed, but I didn't like the sign defaced. It bugged me every time I saw it.

But I knew it would be a hassle to take down the sign to fix it, so I lived with the besmirching, until a week before this Fourth of July.

The flying dog was Terry Bell's design after all. So I muscled it up. Evie helped me and we took down the sign.

The sign required a lot of repainting. Unfortunately I discovered I didn't have enough yellow paint to finish painting the flying dog.

But I did have some gold left over from Alan's bench so I mixed that with the yellow and painted the dog.

I stood back to look at the newly repainted BO GAS sign and realized that the flying dog was no longer yellow, it was golden!

What a beautiful transformation I thought to myself. How fortunate that I ran out of yellow paint. Serendipity - there was proof.

The Golden Flying Dog is here for the entire community.

BO • GAS • COMMUNITY • ENERGY.

Will Durst: The Durst Case Scenario

COMMUNITY CENTER

Friday July 7th 2017, 7pm, $12 tickets

The Durst Case Scenario is a hilarious exploration of how America is changing during the Time of Tru up. DCS is a rollicking feast of outraged and outrageous satire as up-to-date as the latest 4 am Oval Office tweet. In this lightning-paced 85-minute comedic tour-de-force, Durst describes this strange new world where every day without a mushroom cloud is a victory. He details the anxiety of never knowing when the president will strike the flint that shoots a spark to light the fuse to Armageddon. Prepare to meet the funny side of defiance.

Will Durst is acknowledged by peers and press alike as one of the premier political satirists in the country. He's patched together a quilt of a humorous career, weaving together columns, books, radio and television commentaries, acting, voice-overs and stand-up into a riotous patchwork of funny comedy humor. The Oregonian called him, "The thinking man's comedian." Author of 4 books, Durst has told jokes in 16 countries, racked up 800+ television appearances, released 5 CDs and despite blistering reproach, continues to squeeze ketchup on his bratwurst.
