Carp Denim

by StuArt

A month ago I found a big piece of blue denim fabric in the Freebox. I love the rich color of blue denim and I thought I might do a Labor Day painting on it. You know blue denim and blue collar. I stretched the blue denim over a big canvas and got it ready to paint.

But I never got around to doing anything and the blue denim canvas hung around my studio, waiting for inspiration.

That was a month ago. Last week I was working on the mural on the wall of the market with Kale and Harriet. The town was all abuzz about Susie's birthday party. We were watching out for famous people to show up, maybe Bill and Hillary.

I heard that Susie's birthday party was called Camp Carpe Diem. "Carpe diem" means "seize the day" and it's from a poem written by the Roman poet Horace in the First Century.

"The phrase is part of the longer Carpe diem quam minimum credula postero - "Seize the day, putting as little trust as possible in the future." The ode says that the future is unforeseen, and that instead one should scale back one's hopes to a brief future, and drink one's wine." (-wikipedia)

Carpe diem reminded me of Peter Lee's theme song "Enjoy yourself, it's later than you think." It had the same kind of Be Here Now flavor. I liked the idea of a pajama party for 200 at Camp Carpe Diem. The spirit of birthday and celebration infused the town.

Later I was making wordplay with a friend. We were deconstructing carpe diem.

"Carp, it's a junk fish that my people have turned into a delicacy," my friend laughed, citing his ethnic background.

"Yes," I agreed, trying to think of some thing to add to the humor, "It's carp denim, a carp made out of denim."

Suddenly the big blue denim canvas appeared in my mind. I saw carp painted all over it. The painting was titled "Carp Denim"

I liked the idea of "Carp Denim - the painting." It brought together the big Bolinas birthday party and the big blue denim canvas.

It was such a fun idea that it was easy to make the painting. I made overlapping stencil prints of carp in pink and green iridescent paint. The shimmering color looked great on the blue denim.

Then I added "CARP DENIM" in big letters at the top of the painting. I was concerned that people wouldn't get the pun.

The painting looked great and I was happy that I had been able to fuse all those elements into an art piece. But I still wasn't done with "Carp Denim." I made a stencil with the phrase and the silhouette of a fish. I pulled out every pair of denim jeans I had and stenciled "CARP DENIM" on the back pocket.

I had it all: the good times, the blue denim painting and designer label jeans.

Thank you Susie, happy birthday!

GLEANINGS Mary Barror

As some of you know, Mary had a stroke last Wednesday, and was taken to Petaluma Valley Hospital, where she was tended to by many special EMTs, doctors, nurses, care aides, staff, and your own best wishes, good thoughts, and prayers. What follows are some of my own thoughts and feelings as I went through it all with her.

Notes from a Hospital

Release of FEAR - Opening of the HEART

Don't stand in the way of your own Healing!!!

be aware of these precious moments and what we are living here for.....

One step at a time, each precious Day

Honesty, Truth on a scale of 1 to 10

finding that place of ALL LOVE.....

Love, Love, Love...
LOVE is ALL there IS!!!

Is there such a thing as too much Love?

Love Is God
God Is Love

Patience - Compassion - Kindness

perseverance vs. stubbornness

THANK YOU! THANK YOU! THANK YOU!

Mary's mantra 24 Aug. '12 6AM

"I open my Heart"

(she repeated for over an hour)

Dusk Friday 24 Aug.

"There are ANGELS in the room!"

This wonderfully complex body, so fragile, yet so adaptable and tough.

New Life Resolutions

- Keep it Simple
- 'Thank You' always
- Heart open
- Patience, Patience.....
- Total Honesty
- One step at a time, baby steps
- Much more Humor!

Life is not necessarily a joke, but often it is good to joke about it.

Returning home after six days, going up the stairs, and the fragrance of tuberose filling the room, from a bouquet from St. Aidans a week ago Sunday, brought by Whitney Roberson. The bed sheets turned back on Mary's side, and next to it a healing stone from Mimi's sweat lodge, with it's cloth wrapper next to it. This image, not of her leaving bed, but awaiting her return.

WANTED FOR LABOR DAY

Bolinas Bakers, we need your sweet things for the dessert table Monday-9/3. Anyone willing to bring baked goods to the table or help run the dessert table for an hour or so-please call June at 868-9052, It will be fun!

Thanks, June McAdams

Mary has been moved to The Acute Inpatient Rehabilitation Center at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital to work with Occupational Therapists, Physical Therapists, and Speech Therapists. They almost didn't accept her because she had shown such rapid healing and positive developments after the event. We were told that she probably be discharged in five days, then home care for 2-3 weeks. Magi

SOLAR INSTALLATION REPORT

from Jenniepfeiffer

The latest report from Steve Kinsey's office is that Liza Cross sent me the following email on Friday regarding permitting and third party inspections. I would encourage checking out the special offers solar companies have going this month. I have been in touch with Marie Gunter at Sungevity, 510-496-5689, which is a "green" company that works with non-profits and offers promotions that give donations to organizations such as the Sierra Club, Wildlife Federation, etc. They have done many installations and make it very easy and affordable, with purchase or lease options. I asked about the possibility of a promotion that would benefit our school foundation. She was very open to that idea. Solar City is another company. They also have specials. From our research, Solar City is more corporate. Seems they are planning to go public soon with stock options.

Here's what Liza wrote:

Thanks for your note. I was able to confirm that third party inspections are available for building permits for solar/PV installations. It is easy to request the third party inspection, one just completes a form and submits at the same time as submitting the permit application. However, the third party inspector will expect to be paid. Many contractors like this extra service because it is faster than the usual county inspection and are willing to pay the third party inspector. It is important to remember that the Fire Marshall must also make an inspection of PV installations for fire code compliance, and there is no third party inspection available for the Fire Marshall.

Also of interest to community members is there is now a "express permit" process available on Wednesday mornings in room 308. People can walk in and present their proposed project to a building official and a representative of the Fire Department. Assuming all necessary information is presented and the project meets requirements, they can get a permit the same day. But inspections will be required as normal. I know that some people are fearful of any county official coming on their property, but I did speak with both Bill Kelley, the Chief Building Official, and Scott Alber, the County Fire Marshall, about the concern about other unpermitted work being reported and both provided assurances. Both Mr. Kelley and Mr. Alber stated that when they conduct inspections that they focus their inspection on the scope of the permit, and do not look at other structures, septic, etc. The only exception is if they see something imminently hazardous, e.g., bare electrical wires.

I hope that answers your questions...feel free to let me know if you need any other information. Also feel free to share this email with others. If you would like to speak with Bill Kelley directly you can reach him at 473-6550. I know he would be glad to speak with you.

Regards, Liza

Anita (our fire chief) does our local inspections. I will keep the community informed by way of the Hearsay, what our experience is as we move forward on our installation project. JP

Downtown Park Update

At the last several meetings of the park committee, the primary issue of discussion has been whether the park should be used by vendors selling food, art, dry goods, whatever. The park committee has decided to recommend that sales be limited to Saturday flea markets. John Glavis and StuArt have volunteered to coordinate those flea markets, designating set up areas and assigning spaces. Otherwise, the park is not to be used for commercial activities. The Mesa Park Board's next meeting is on Monday, September 10, 2012, at which time the committee's recommendation will be presented to the Board for approval.

In the meantime, there will be a ribbon cutting at the park entrance at noon on Labor Day to formally dedicate the park. However, there has been no selection of a name for the park because there is no consensus among the committee, or in the community at large on selecting a name from among the 50+ suggestions. Therefore, the committee will recommend that the people of the town start referring to the park themselves, and see what name is most commonly used.

Also left for resolution is what to put in the circle at the front of the park, which was designed as a children's play area. Some people want a boat, some an abstract climbing structure, and others think it should remain a circle with nothing in it. The committee needs more community input on this one.

The downtown park committee: Zoe Gardiner, John Glavis, Harriet Kossman, Michael Rafferty, Jack Siedman and Angela Vernon.

Heard It at the Hardware

By Robin Bradford

"All life is an experiment. The more experiments you make the better." ~ Ralph Waldo Emerson

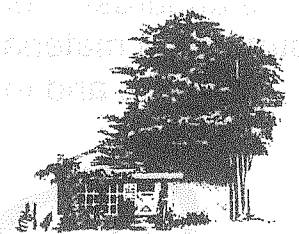

Following are some lessons learned at Bolinas Hardware through 15 months of experiments and experiences, but many through simply observing Terry Bell:

- ~ Not all duct tape is created equal.
- ~ Sometimes the choice of being nailed, hammered or screwed is not particularly obvious.
- ~ A plumber with dimples and a smile will always be in demand.
- ~ A pee trap doesn't.
- ~ Anyone who is patient enough can learn patience.
- ~ Four things to keep around the house: baling wire, clothespins, duct tape and Fix-All.
- ~ Never trust rodent elimination advice from someone who has five cats.
- ~ A fishtape has nothing to do with measuring fish.
- ~ Claire Heart's Island Girl Soup is damn good soup.
- ~ It's impossible to be an unattractive fireman.
- ~ Gophers do not care how much effort you put into your garden.
- ~ Deer prefer to eat the most expensive deer-proof plants you've got.
- ~ To properly mix spray paint, take the can in your right hand and shake it until you can shake no more. Switch to your left hand. Then repeat the entire process.
- ~ The best way to deal with an impolite customer is to serve efficiently and get him or her out quickly.
- ~ Measure three times before even thinking about cutting.
- ~ Never put pipe away in an overhead rack by flinging it in Olympic Javelin-Style.
- ~ Most people want to do the right thing.
- ~ Rarely are the words please and thank you overused.
- ~ Life is too short to use cheap tools; however, repeat business is always appreciated.
- ~ Preparation is undervalued. It's not 90%; it's 92.5%. At least.
- ~ Inexpensive brushes don't hold the paint.
- ~ Man cannot subsist on popcorn and tootsie rolls alone.
- ~ You can clean almost anything using elbow grease mixed with baking soda, or lemon, or vinegar, or bleach.
- ~ Ants love to eat termites, something to think about before eradicating ants.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Statement for the newspaper:

The Stinson Beach Library is pleased to present The Bolinas Collage Groups' art show, "Spreading Our Wings," on view at the library beginning September 1 and running through November 26, 2012. The Bolinas Collage Group - Colleen Cavin, Patricia Marina, and Linda Donahue have been doing collage art together for two years. They rescue, salvage and recycle images from magazines and books, using special papers, jewels and anything that catches their fancy in the moment to embellish their creations.

Please join us for an Opening Reception and to meet the artists on Tuesday, September 25th from 6-8pm. The show will feature approximately 25 collage pieces. In addition, there will be a table with collage materials available for those who would like to create something beautiful to take home.
