INAUGURHOWL

by Steve Heilig

With apologies to A. Ginsberg (and America)

I saw the worst candidate of any generation elected by a minority, lying shouting tweeting, dragging our poor nation into the swampiest of backlashes with a hostile takeover of democracy, frustrated voters besieged by simplistic slogans inflated fears and false assertions somehow becoming convinced that a con man could Make America Something it never was, even though he is a serial bankrupting deplorable; who began his political career with an undeniably crazed racist accusation that our first black president was a Kenyan and kept that up for years until denying he ever did so, who said Obamacare is a "disaster" even though he clearly knows not what it is or who it helps nor what to replace it with, who has tax and healthcare and other proposals that will make the rich much richer while throwing crumbs to middle class and poorer citizens while cutting their services, who called climate change a Chinese hoax thereby baffling not only scientists but the Chinese themselves, who vowed to get rid of the EPA even though it protects not only the environment but the health and future of all, who said those who get or give or favor abortion should be punished and defunded even though Planned Parenthood prevents more unwanted pregnancies than any so-called "pro-life" activism ever has or will, who mocked a disabled journalist who questioned him and then said he didn't though no objective viewer would buy that, who denigrated POWs and war heroes saying they should not have been captured or killed while being a draft-dodger and calling his avoidance of sexually-transmitted diseases his own personal wartime service, who towed the line of the venal profiteering NRA and even suggested that "second amendment people" might be useful for getting rid of his opponents,

WHY DOES MY WATER LOOK DIFFERENT? IS IT SAFE TO DRINK?

We have received several calls in recent days from community members reporting that their drinking water seems to be discolored and asking if it is safe to drink. The reason for the coloration of your drinking water is the fact that the BCPUD currently is drawing from its emergency water source, Woodrat Reservoir 1. The storms this winter have raised the turbidity levels in our preferred water source, the Arroyo Hondo Creek, and impaired our access to the creek, as well. Naturally-occurring minerals in the Woodrat Reservoir 1 water are the source of the color and do not pose a health risk. As soon as we are able to do so, the BCPUD will resume drawing water from the Arroyo Hondo Creek.

If you have any further questions or would like more information, please contact us at 868-1224 or e-mail us at bcpud@bcpud.org.

The Briones Lions Club is seeking 17 new members to join us in our continuing commitment to carry on the Club's good works and traditions that have made life a little bit better for those individuals in need, and have benefitted our community as a whole, for the past 51 years!

We, the members of the Briones Lions would like to cordially invite those men and women of Stinson Beach & Bolinas who are interested in serving their communities to dinner, Thursday night, January 26th, at 7pm, at the Bolinas Rod & Boat Club.

This is a chance to meet the men and women of the Briones Lions Club and to learn more about the Lions and how we serve our communities. Without new members, the Briones Lions Club will shut its doors for good at the end of February!

But first, we would like to know...

Are YOU A Lion?

- Are you the kind of person who likes to do good things for their community?
- Are you the kind of person who likes to make life a little bit better for those in need?
- Would you like to help send kids to summer camp, sponsor a child in Pony Club, or help a friend get the medical or dental care that they need?
- Would you like to help somebody get their college degree, or fulfill a dream?
- Would you like to help somebody get the eye care and glasses they need?
- Do you like to be involved in community events?
- Do you like to work with others?
- Are you dependable?
- Are you always being accused of having "too high of standards, or morals?"
- Can you donate 2 to 4 hours of your valuable time each month making life in our communities just a little-bit better?
- And, finally, do you like to meet others who are just as crazy as you are?

If you said yes to any one of these, show up Thursday evening!

Enuf about the 45th insult!
This is suppose to be a concert announcement, one of many alternative tonics to politics – like a walk in the rain(or sun) – a walk in the woods alone – or a great walk with thousands of happy, beautiful women and their family of friends sharing our joy of consciousness and action.
So, for another tonic, come listen to the inspiring classics – I'm giving a Mid-Winter Concert series, starting this Friday at 7 p.m. at Mary Magdalene Church at the foot of Horseshoe Hill Road.

I'll be opening with a series of minatures of J. S. Bach that I'll be playing in contrasting styles (tempo & articulation). In the first time around, I'll be playing slowly, to hear the detail and harmonies in slow motion, if you will; then, a much faster tempo for another look and listen.

Also, on this first program will be the 8 organ preludes and fugues that will be played on pipe organ, string orchestra, choir or marimba. The concert closes with a couple excerpts from the middle of the B minor Mass, whose harmonies will open your heart and whose intent is to inspire you.

100 Folks Strong Offer Bolinas Support for Women on the Move Across the Country and the World

Last Sunday afternoon we saw our community rally beautifully in response to the unifying challenge of these times: Resisting Fear/Assisting Love. It was a collective of positive energy, and we all needed it so much! It helped in strengthening us as we begin to figure out our answers to the Great Wake Up Call. Or is it Cull? Don't cull us, we'll cull you....

15 or so hardy, happy women walked in the rain through town, along Wharf, and out onto the beach, returning to the fireside in the CG, where over the next 2 1/2 hours we grew in number to 100 or so, upholding the rights of women and humans everywhere, and in solidarity with the 2.2 million who marched all over the world. The grass roots mycelium of this community was growing its connective tissue.

As people "suddenly" being made to "wakeup", we can use this to unite in each present moment as never before. It really is now or never, and that is phenomenally energizing.

After a period of settling in, talking, and snacking on all the potluck goodies, we shared our voices in a veritable Choir of Hummin' Beings.... which was all of us singing a sound and getting to hear our Indivisible US as the voices created one voice from all of our harmonies. Then came the testimony of those who spoke up, shared favorite slogans and signs and stories and songs; there was a conga line at one point and a marching around the center with linked arms, kids singing and dancing. The linkage from the shared pain and the shared laughter was very heartening, and we celebrated that we DO still have each other. There was the feeling that we can and will make up our own viable reality as we go on if we do it together.... so it was magically uplifting, and the town came across as very vibrant and ready to move ahead.

A few highlights:

Susan and Elizabeth Tacherra and Amanda & Bella Mann sang (and signed!) a Chinese proverb/prayer that everyone joined in on that felt better and more comforting each time it went around.

Spontaneous protest songs and speeches!

Annie Owens led such a feel-good singalong with us all that sometimes segued into dance tunes with the backing of Alex Bleeker, Charley Callahan, Jeff Manson, Ananda, Bronwyn Murch, StuArt, Vanwah Waring, Jeff Warrin, Ned Riley, and even little Agnes.

The group photo was a hoot!

Native American energy was invoked with a song in honor of Ilka's 75th birthday as well as a rousing rendition of Happy Happy Birthday, We're In Love With You by all assembled for this great activist and friend of the community. Birthday cakes complemented events perfectly.

MaryBeth & Maddy Muir & Amita & Vivienne sang the funny song about the universe that puts this planet SOOOO in perspective.

Jennie Pfeiffer, as a woman and a mother expressed our feelings of unity and perseverance.

Mark Butler reminded us of the sustained action we need now, and of ways & means to do so.

So many other good moments, thank you so much to all who gathered and made us strong.

I want to thank Rachel Gertrude, Maddy, Susie Stewart, Melinda Stone, Perry, and Katrina's son for helping when cleanup time rolled around, while the band played on and made it all so easy.

Am deeply inspired by the renewed commitment to social, environmental and economic justice, the from-the-ground-up local activism that I see around me. It is said that "only when the mystic's passion for love is married with the activist's passion for justice is the sacred fire that can transfigure the world ignited."

Yours in feeling the Burn.... because its only out of the ashes that the Phoenix can be born....

ACTION ALERT- PLEASE DO THIS!!

There is a effort afoot that was started by Diana Chapman Walsh, former President of Wellesley, to send, by the end of this week, a snail mail, very simply hand-written message to now-President Trump regarding the preservation of the Affordable Care Act. The suggestion is to write no more than three lines, using the same text, or modified, as what follows. By all accounts, hand written letters to the President must be opened, read and tallied. This effort is to create a mountain of mail and create a visually undeniable citizens' demand.

President Donald J Trump
1600 Pennsylvania Ave
Washington, D.C. 20500

"Don't make America sick again. Improve Obamacare.
Don't repeal it."

According to the promoters of this effort, our sending these letters should amount to 53 million pieces of mail, and $20 million of postage stamps sold.

My reply to a letter from Leila Monroe on the Nextdoor site; addressing ordinances about to be enacted against vehicle-dwellers in town. A meeting with our board of Supervisors has been called for Tuesday Jan 24 – now yesterday – in which parking ordinances have been drawn up which will effectively eliminate the house-dwellings on Brighton, and on the streets in town in general. This is happening in spite of efforts by the Bolinas parking committee, the BCLT and the BPUD to deal with our problems internally.

Leila, thank you for your thoughts, and for posting this! It's heartening that you and the others of the Bolinas Parking Committee, the BCLT, and the five elected members of the BCPUD have dedicated so much time to this issue. My strong impression after being in attendance of two of the meetings is that most – seemingly all – of those who sit on these boards are in accord with the desire to settle this matter in our own way, in our own town. Yes, I understand that there are those, perhaps more than I'm aware of, who are not happy with the situation on Brighton Ave, with the mobile-home dwellers. But I feel confident to say that everyone whom I personally know, at least a dozen in homes on Brighton who own and actually live in those homes – full time – are forthright with me in their warm and vocal support of my living situation on the street in my caravan. (For those who don't know, it's the red 'gypsy wagon' which I built in the 80's and has been rather a town landmark ever since. I've only lived in it for the past year, otherwise it has been parked in a driveway or side-yard of the several households that my wife and I have lived in, maintained, beautified and raised a family in over the course of the past 36 years.)

Since the complaints have become formal, with meetings to address the issues, I've met with or seen at the meetings some of those who are filing those complaints. Good people I'm sure, but in all my years in this town, being a consistent and active participant in many events and functions, I've only noticed for the first time, these folks who're making the complaints. I know that some of those houses sit empty for long stretches of time or are used exclusively for Air BnB. So the consequences of not enough houses to affordably rent have become visible. As Leila said, we must try to think holistically. I don't like to think in terms of them and us, but in this case those lines have been drawn, so I will speak directly to you who are disturbed by us.

For you, your problem is a matter of a personal distaste. I can understand that, I carry my own; there are things that I really don't like to see. But now your being annoyed has become a major problem for a number of us out there who seriously don't have options. Personally, I'm resourceful, I'll find a way, but I'm not speaking just for myself. Homelessness is a tragic situation and is only growing in this country. Vehicle-dwelling is the cheapest and most immediate of all solutions – the 'let it be' solution. It's easy to do, maybe uncomfortable to look at, but easy – even fulfilling in the long run. Why not join in with the happy free spirit of this town, rather than calling down ordinances that will displace those who are making do with very little. Where will they go? It's a painful dilemma for them. Can't Bolinas remain the rare sanctuary in this increasingly unwelcoming world? Is anyone out here causing any real trouble? Everyone who has bought into this particular town has to have known of its character and origins. It being a laid-back community is why people who come here to visit smile a lot. I would love to see our little Bolinas-town thrive and grow, with all of our class-levels living in happy harmony. I welcome any conversation, I tend the bookstore. And you know where I live. Peace. Yup - and Love.
